THE

CHRISTIAN TRAVELLER'S

CONTINENTAL HANDBOOK.

FOUNDED 1799.

THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY.

THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY tells of the Gospel of the Grace of God in 193 languages and dialects. It was founded in 1799 for the object of spreading the news of God's love at Home and in Foreign lands.

It is supported by and aids Christians of all Evangelical Denominations. Help is given to the Church Missionary Society ; London Missionary Society ; Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts ; Baptist Missionary Society ; Wesleyan Missionary Society ; China Inland Mission ; the Presbyterian Missionary Societies ; Paris Evangelical Missions ; Gossner Missionary Society ; Basle Missionary Society ; American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions ; Rhenish Missionary Society ; and numerous others. Circulates between 80 and 90 millions of publications each year.

Does not expend one shilling of its subscriptions or donations on management or other expenses.

Uses all its Missionary Funds for the object for which they are subscribed, but pays all its expenses out of Trade Funds.

The 'Pilgrim's Progress' has been issued in 82 languages, in many of which the Society has assisted or borne the cost of the publication.

Has published its New Testament Commentary in ten languages—Chinese, Arabic, Syriac, Mahrati, Bengali, Tamil, Canarese, Urdu, Singhalese, and Karen.

Distributes packets of healthy interesting literature to almost all the Emigrant families leaving the ports of the United Kingdom.

Provides for a very large distribution of Books and Tracts for sailors of all nationalities.

Has issued more than 42,000 libraries, varying from 25 to 500 volumes, either at very reduced rates, or in the case of very poor districts free.

Grants Tracts for distribution at greatly reduced prices, and in many cases free.

Helps all the great Missionary Societies in their work of providing Gospel literature in their fields of work, but is able to do only a tithe of what is needed through want of funds.

Maintains in all its publications a testimony to Evangelical truth.

So far from the Committee being able to meet the growing needs of the work, they are constantly compelled to refuse grants in aid of much-needed extension.

A subscription of 10s. 6d. or upwards constitutes membership in the Society ; a sum of £10 10s. constitutes life-membership. All subscribers receive copies of the new Tracts, the Tract Magazine and other small publications ; in this way alone 11,000 Tract-distributors are helped.

Subscriptions, Donations, and other Contributions may be sent to the Secretaries, { Rev. LEWIS BORRETT WHITE, D.D.

 { Rev. SAMUEL G. GREEN, D.D.

Ignorance and Orphanhood trained in vice do not grow up helpless; they are armed for the ruin of Commonwealths.'—ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.

THE KIRKDALE (Liverpool)
VOLUNTARY DAY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL AND BOYS' AND GIRLS' FREE HOMES.

THIS Institution, founded as a Ragged School in 1856, re-organized under its present title in 1878, has for its object the saving of needy, destitute, and friendless Children from starvation, ignorance, and vice.

There are at present in the Schools and Homes over 600 Children, whose physical, social, and moral condition requires such a salutary system as the Day Industrial.

Three meals each day, of a substantial and nutritious kind, are provided; clothes, and clogs or shoes, are given to those who need them; the boys are taught trades, and the girls are trained in household work.

Over 300 Children are taken entire charge of—i.e., are lodged and clothed as well as taught and fed.

A special feature of this, as an Industrial School, is the Voluntary side of it—the fact that no child is refused admission because it has not been committed by the magistrates or because its friends cannot pay anything towards its maintenance.

H.M. Inspector in his last Report says:

'The School is engaged in a most useful and disinterested effort. The advantage to the children themselves from attendance at such a school is incalculable. I have pleasure in adding that the children appear to be treated with uniform kindness and consideration.'

The late Bishop of Manchester has preached four times on behalf of the Institution, warmly recommending it to public support.

The Schools are situated in Major Street, and the Girls' Home in Walton Road, Kirkdale. A visit is earnestly solicited.

Of upwards of £6,000 per annum required to keep the Establishment going, £4,000 has to be raised by voluntary subscriptions, donations, etc.

Contributions may be sent to the Manchester and Liverpool District Bank, Water Street, Liverpool; or to the Founder and Hon. Treasurer,
Rev. Canon MAJOR LESTER, Kirkdale, Liverpool, England.

‘DR. BARNARDO’S HOMES’

FOR DESTITUTE CHILDREN.

 { DIMSDALE, FOWLER & CO., 50, Cornhill, E.C.

THERE are now thirty-four distinct and separate Institutions throughout the United Kingdom and in the Colonies comprehended under the title ‘Dr. Barnardo’s Homes.’ For twenty-three years the Homes have been engaged in rescuing, training in Industrial and Christian ways, and sending forth to lives of respectability and usefulness destitute boys and girls, who are admitted to their benefits, irrespective of age, creed, birth-place, disease or physical deformities, without payment, without the intervention of patronage or votes, and without delay.

Since their formation they have rescued over 12,000 destitute boys and girls, and there are now resident in them 3,100 inmates of all ages, from babies in arms to lads and big girls just entering upon manhood and womanhood.

Their range of activities includes, besides, a large amount of general Mission and Evangelistic effort among the adult poor of the East End. A Medical Mission at Shadwell, a People’s Mission Church at the Edinburgh Castle (Limehouse), and a Deaconess House at Bow are among their agencies.

In connection with their distinctive operations for the rescue and training of children may be specified Babies’ Castle at Hawkhurst (containing 100 infants); 49 Cottage Homes forming a Village upon the Family System at Ilford (containing nearly 1,000 rescued girls); Homes for Boys of various ages in Stepney Causeway, at Leopold House, Burdett Road, and at Teighmore, Gorey, Jersey; a Labour House for Older Lads in Commercial Road (containing nearly 200 inmates); ‘The Children’s Fold’ for 100 Crippled and Deformed Boys and Girls; Sturge House, a Servants’ Training Home and Free Registry for Older Girls, and an Hotel for Young Workmen who have left the Homes. Her Majesty’s Hospital for Sick Children, erected in 1887 in Stepney Causeway, accommodates 70 patients.

The Emigration of trained inmates, under stringent conditions as to moral, mental and physical qualifications, has been actively carried on for many years; and over 4,000 children have thus been placed out in situations, or adopted in settlers’ families in Canada alone, where there are now three Distributing and Emigration Homes: one at Peterborough, Ontario, for Girls; one at Toronto for Boys; and a third at Russell, Manitoba, consisting of an Industrial Farm of over 9,000 acres, which is being developed by the labours of resident Lads sent out from the Labour House.

Really destitute Children can always obtain admission, day or night, at the office.

There is no endowment, and the whole work is dependant solely upon the Free Will Offerings of the Christian public.

The ‘Homes’ are always open to Visitors, except on Saturday afternoon and Sunday; but the best time to see the Boys’ Home is between 2.30 and 5 p.m., when the Workshops and Schools are in operation. The Girls’ Village Home can be reached by train from Liverpool Street Station to Ilford, starting about 1.10 p.m. daily.

The Committee earnestly APPEAL for help from all those who pity destitute children. £16 will suffice to maintain one poor boy or girl in the ‘Homes’ for a whole year. £9 will provide means of outfitting and emigrating any boy or girl from the ‘Homes’ who may be considered eligible. [£11 are required for an Emigrant to Manitoba.] Any gift, however small, will be thankfully received and acknowledged.

The proclamation of the Gospel and the extension of God's Kingdom in the Roman Catholic Countries of Europe—such is the object of the Society.

It has no denominational ends in view, but leaves Churches, as they are formed, free to choose their own order of Ecclesiastical polity.

It aids the Evangelical Societies of France and Belgium ; the Home Mission Work of the Free Churches of France and Italy, also an Evangelistic Mission in Sicily. In Spain and Bohemia it has stations of its own, under efficient local superintendence.

During the past year it expended £2,127 in the promotion of Evangelistic work, while it served as a channel through which nearly £200 was conveyed to various Societies.

At present the Society's Funds are very low, and an earnest appeal for help is hereby made to all who desire to see the religion of Christ supplanting the idolatrous systems now so largely prevailing throughout Europe.

INTRODUCTION.

I.—THE chief aim of this Handbook is to direct attention to Evangelistic and other operations on the Continent, and to facilitate a visit to some of them. In the case of France, several short tours have been sketched out. Before undertaking any of these, it would be well to obtain still more precise information respecting hours of meeting, etc., from the secretaries of the societies to which the stations belong, or from a pastor living in the town which forms the starting-point. All such applications may be made in English. Any attempt to present precise information would probably be misleading, owing to the frequent changes incident to such work.

II.—English services are indicated, and the towns in which they are held are printed in heavier type, so as to strike the eye. In regard to the permanent chaplaincies, the name of the minister is given in most cases, and the address of the church and the hours of service. For the summer chaplaincies only the place is given as a rule, the traveller being referred for other information to the announcements now to be found in all the principal hotels.

III.—For travellers desirous of visiting scenes rendered memorable by events in Protestant history, several tours are sketched out. This is a tentative effort which in future editions may be extended, should it meet with general approval.

IV.—In regard to Germany, a general view of Protestant Inner Mission Agencies is given ; also a list of the chief Protestant universities, with the names of a few of the principal professors. The chapter on 'Würtemberg,' the details of which were kindly given by friends on the spot, will, it is hoped, interest some.

V.—At the great General Missionary Conference of last year it was felt desirable to omit all details of missions to Roman Catholics, and of the societies in England and America that either have missions of their own in Europe or that help the societies established in the various countries. This deficiency is in some measure supplied by the information given here.

As this Handbook was started by, and is still published largely at the expense of, the Evangelical Continental Society, we begin with a reference to its operations. By grants made to French, Belgian, and Italian Evangelical Societies, and by securing the services of faithful men, placed under due supervision in Spain and Bohemia, it has rendered great help for more than forty years. It was established, and is still conducted, on undenominational principles.

The Foreign Aid Society, a few years older than the Evangelical Continental Society, is carried on on similar principles. Its supporters are mainly found in the Church of England.

VI.—Sunday Schools are to be found in most towns where active religious life exists, and a visit to the various churches will enable the traveller to ascertain the hour when the children assemble, if the same is not indicated in the following pages. But if any persons are desirous of getting fuller information, they may do so by applying to the gentlemen whose names will be found in the list that appears at the end of this Handbook.

HINTS FOR TRAVELLERS IN SEARCH OF HUGUENOT MEMORIES.

I.—On the railway from Paris to Tergnier (route Reims) is Noyon, Calvin's birthplace (1509)—house gone. The Baptist minister at Chauny has recently begun to preach here. Further on is St. Quentin, where, in 1557, Philip II. of Spain, aided by 'bloody Mary,' his wife, fought against the French under Coligny and Anne de Montmorency, and defeated them. Philip had vowed that if successful he would erect a monastery in honour of his patron, St. Lawrence, who was done to death on a gridiron. Hence the Escorial Convent in Spain, laid out as a gridiron.

Still in this region—on the railway from Paris to Cambrai—is Roisel station. Not far off, in the Valley of Hesbécourt, is the Boîte à Cailloux, where, after the Revocation, and almost up to 1789, the pastors of the Desert preached—among others, Givry, during whose brief ministry in that region seven churches were formed.

In three or four hours from Reims, Sedan is reached, the place of Napoleon's defeat in 1870, but also a spot famous in the history of the Reformation as the seat of a Theological Faculty, where the controversialist Pierre du Moulin taught, and where the pious Drelincourt and the historian Basnage studied.

II.—At Dieppe the Reformation found an entrance through a Genevese colporteur, Venable, and John Knox was for a time pastor of the church, which subsequently became so numerous that the members boldly seized the principal church, St. Jacques, and worshipped in it for a whole year.

In 1562, only some twelve months after the Colloque de Poissy, Rouen, then held by the Protestants, aided by 500 English, was besieged, and after eleven days fell into the hands of the brutal soldiery of Charles IX. At the present day there are some 2,100 Protestants in and around the city.

Taking train in the direction of Chartres, we come to Buell, ten miles from which is the battle-field of Ivry, where, as Macaulay tells us in his lay, Henri IV. gained so signal a victory over the League in 1590.

At Dreux, the next station, the Duc de Guise routed the Huguenots and took the Prince de Condé prisoner. Above the town are the remains of a castle, which Henri IV. took from the Duc de Guise. Also a chapel, which Louis Philippe built as a burial-place for himself and family. One of the finest sculptures is the work of his daughter.

In the magnificent cathedral at Chartres Henri IV. was crowned in 1594.

Passing thence by rail through the plain of La Beauce in the direction of Brest, we reach Brittany, the eastern part of which was once a stronghold of Protestantism. It was D'Andelot, brother of Admiral Coligny, who introduced Protestantism into Brittany. Taking two preachers with him from Paris they proclaimed the new doctrine at Angers and Nantes. One of their hearers was François de la Noue, who became one of the chief promoters of Breton Protestantism. From Nantes they passed to Blain, where Isabeau de Navarre, the dowager of Rohan received them as 'angels of the Lord.' Thenceforward for many years the Château of Blain was the great Protestant centre, and when Protestantism had been put down in Nantes it was at Blain that the persecuted found a place of refuge. Henri de Rohan, the great Protestant chief, was born at Blain, as also was his distinguished daughter, Anne de Rohan. The château was founded in 1108, and was rebuilt. Two of the towers date from the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. The greater part of the building is in the Renaissance style. It is reached by the rail from Le Mans towards St. Nazaire (Nantes).

III.—On the railway from Paris to Rouen, and seventeen miles from Paris, is Poissy, the birthplace of St. Louis, and also the town where the memorable but ineffectual conference took place between Romanists and Protestants, shortly after the consecration of Charles IX. at Reims. Théodore de Bèze, assisted by Peter Martyr Vermiglio and others, represented the Protestants at the conference.

IV.—Visitors to the Cathedral of Bourges (railway from Orleans) should remember that Calvin studied law at Bourges, and received his first evangelical impressions there. The neighbouring village of Asnières may be called the cradle of French Protestantism. Between there and Bourges is a bridge still called Calvin's Bridge.

By railway from Bourges to Nevers, and then rail back towards Paris, Châtillon-sur-Loire is reached. The Reformed Church here (Past. Roth) is one of the oldest in France. Châtillon-sur-Loing, further on, near Nogent-sur-Vernis, was the residence of Admiral Coligny.

V.—On the railway from Paris to Strasbourg is the station of Blesme, where a line branches off and traverses the Department of the Haute Marne.

In this region Protestantism once prevailed, especially in the town of Vassy, where so many were massacred by the Duc de Guise in 1562. They were attacked when worshipping in a barn. This building is still in existence, and has been purchased for conversion into a chapel. For many years the Wesleyan Church laboured in this district, but their stations have been handed over to the Reformed Church. The Joinville Château, 'the cradle of the Ducs de Guise, was not far from Vassy, but was pulled down in 1790.

VI.—The banks of the Loire. Huguenot memories attach to the principal towns. Orleans—once the stronghold of Protestantism—famous for its siege, where Francis, Duke of Guise, was assassinated. This siege ended the first War of Religion. Joan of Arc's name will ever be associated with Orleans.

Blois. In the wonderful Château the Duke of Guise was killed.

Amboise. Noted for the so-called conspiracy, when 1,200 perished, the principal victims being executed as an after-dinner spectacle for the benefit of Catherine de Médicis, Mary Queen of Scots, and her courtiers.

Tours. Near Tours is the colony of Mettray, the well-known Reformatory.

Saumur. Here, for nearly four months, the representatives of the Protestants (from fifteen provinces) met under the presidency of Duplessis Mornay, trying to secure their rights. Here, too, was the famous Protestant Academy (founded in 1617), the teaching at which was a sort of transition from Calvinism to Arminianism. Moïse Amyraut was one of its ablest professors. Students flocked hither from England, Scotland and Germany. Under Duplessis Mornay, who was appointed governor, the town became an important one of 25,000 inhabitants; but at the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes the Huguenots were driven away, and only about 6,000 people remained.

Angers. The Reformed Church building dates from the twelfth century.

Nantes. Memorable for the Edict which gave a certain amount of freedom to the Protestants, and the Revocation of which well-nigh ruined France.

VII.—From Tours, Poitiers is reached by rail in two or three hours. It was between Poitiers and Tours that Chas. Martel defeated the Saracenic host in 732, and thus stayed the great Mahometan invasion.—At Poitiers, Calvin laboured in the early part of his career. Near the town is the cave of St. Bénéit, called Calvin's Grotto, where Calvin opened his mind fully to a number of thoughtful, cultured men, and then asked them to join him in prayer. According to Florimel de Reymond, he prayed with much vehemence.

The old provinces of the Poitou and the Saintonge were greatly stirred by the Reformation movement. It is recorded that thirty-three temples in the Poitou were destroyed by Louis XIV., in 1665. At the present day, Protestantism is largely represented there, and is beginning to show some signs of life.

By rail from Poitiers to Loudun (first Protestant Synod held here in 1555) and Chantonnay, and from thence by diligence ($7\frac{1}{2}$ miles) Mouchamp is reached. Just north of this, on the confines of a vast forest, are the remains of the Château de Parc-Soubise, where the famous Catherine de Parthenay spent her youth. She married Viscount René de Rohan, at La Rochelle, in 1575, and was the mother of Anne de Rohan, born at Blain in 1584. (See Derniers Récits du 16me Siècle, par Jules Bonnet.)

From Poitiers direct by rail to La Rochelle, once the great Protestant stronghold, the siege of which is the most thrilling story in French Protestant history. It began in 1627, and lasted more than a year, the English three times making a show of coming to the help of the starving people, but eventually failing to do so. Before this, in 1568, Condé, Coligny, and D'Andelot took refuge here, and were joined by Jeanne d'Albret, Queen of Navarre, and by the chief Huguenot leaders from Normandy, Maine, and Anjou. Then began the third War of Religion.

A Protestant church was first formed in 1558. For some years Protestants and Catholics lived on good terms, and used the churches of St. Sauveur and St. Barthélemy in common. Here the Synod was held under the presidency of Theod. de Bèze, at which the confession of faith and discipline was revised and adopted as the symbol of the Reformed Church of France.

VIII.—Béarn, the present department of the Basses Pyrénées, is full of Protestant memories. Marguerite de Valois, mother of Jeanne d'Albret, took refuge here. Under Jeanne's influence Béarn became a most moral province. Schools and hospitals were established, and a new code of laws framed. She was the noble mother of Henri IV., who proved himself an unworthy son. The ruins of Jeanne's château are still to be seen at Bellocq, near Puyoo, on line from Dax to Pau.

At Bayonne, Catherine de Médicis had a conference with the Duke of Alva, in 1565 ; and together they agreed, it is said, on the massacre of St. Bartholomew.

Orthez, also on line from Dax to Pau. The church here was the most important of those in Béarn in the early days of Protestantism. Jeanne d'Albret founded a Protestant Academy here in 1566. It was destroyed in 1620. At that period the church had four pastors, three of whom were also professors at the Academy. There were then thirty Protestant temples in that district. From 1822 to 1830 a remarkable revival took place in Béarn, in connection with the labours of Henri Pyt, agent of the Continental Society of London. At present there is a Reformed Church at Orthez, and also a Free Church.

IX.—The Cévennes. This mountainous region—still mainly Protestant—abounds in historic memories. Here the Camisards fought for their liberties, but in vain. The traveller who is determined to penetrate into it must not expect to find hotels or even decent inns. Headquarters may be taken up at Anduze, just outside the great natural gate by which the region is entered on that side. Anduze is reached by rail from Nîmes. In a barn at Bagard, Cavalier held his first meeting and formed his band of Camisards. St. Jean du Gard is the chief town of this part of the Cévennes (Reformed Church, Pasteur Meinadier ; Free Church, Pasteur Guibal), and not far distant is Mialet (Reformed Church, Pasteur Chasland)—the country of the two Camisard chiefs, the Laportes. Close by is Massoubeyran, birthplace of Roland Laporte, whose hiding-place beneath the kitchen-floor in an old house is still to be seen ; also his Bible and hallebardes. Near by are caves which served as arsenals.

X.—Nîmes is rich in Protestant associations as well as Roman remains. The Grand Temple was hired in 1792, and after 106 years' cessation, Protestant worship was recommenced, the Patriarch of the Desert, Paul Rabaut, offering the dedicatory prayer. At the Orphelinat (for information ask Pasteur Dardier, 1, Rue Trajan) is Pasteur Rabaut's tomb. In a corner of the Protestant cemetery is a small building used as a vestry by the pastors of the Desert when they preached at the Ermitage.

A deeply interesting excursion from Nîmes by rail to Aiguesmortes. Train passes through 'the little Canaan' as it was called, because so largely a Protestant district in former days. Aiguesmortes is a town fortified by St. Louis, after the manner of Jerusalem, and the fortifications are all perfect. Just outside the walls is the Tower of Constance, where Huguenot prisoners—notably Marie Durand—were held captive for long years.

Luther Tour.

Embracing the principal places connected with the life of the great Reformer.

1.—Frankfort. At corner of Dom Platz, with Latin inscription In silentio, etc., is the house where Luther is said to have slept on his way to Worms.

2.—Giessen. Our route brings us to this university town.

3.—Marburg, the place of the memorable discussion between Luther and Zwingli.

4.—Eisenach, where Luther went to school on leaving Mansfeld, and where he used to sing in the streets until Frau Ursula Cotta befriended him.

5.—The Wartburg is near Eisenach, three or four miles distant. Here Luther sojourned under the pseudonym of Squire George.

6.—Schmalkalden may be reached from Eisenach—railway to Wernhausen. There the famous League was formed.

7.—Erfurt, where Luther became an Augustinian monk. Here he first really studied the Bible and saw the truth of the Gospel.

8.—Weimar, associated with Goethe, and slightly so with Luther.

9.—Jena (University). In this town Luther's life was endangered through the opposition of the townsfolk.

10.—Eisleben, where he was born. The house still stands, and relics are shown. In St. Peter's Church he was baptized. In St. Andrew's is the pulpit in which he preached. Here, too, Luther died.

11.—Halle, where Luther lodged in the hostelry of the 'Golden Lock.' The University reminds one of Tholuck, a worthy successor of Luther in our time.

12.—Wittenberg, where Luther became a professor. Here, too, he finished translating the Bible. Outside the Elster Gate is an oak, planted on the spot where Luther burnt the Pope's bull in 1520. Here he was married. His dwelling in the Augustinian Convent is shown.

13.—Leipzig, where Auerbach's cellar is (Goethe's 'Faust'). Auerbach was Luther's great friend. At Leipzig the debate with Eck took place.

14.—Zwickau, where Luther preached from the balcony of Rathhaus to 25,000.

15.—Coburg, with its castle, where Luther is said to have written Ein feste Burg.

16.—Sonneberg is near Coburg—less than one hour by rail—with the house where Luther tarried more than once.

17.—Nürnberg, a queen of cities. Albert Dürer's home. Luther passed through it once.

18.—Augsburg. Diet held in 1530, and Augsburg Confession presented. This is still the Confession of the Lutheran Church.

19.—Ulm, with one of the finest Gothic cathedrals, but no reminiscence of Luther.

20.—Stuttgart, with many Christian institutions, but also not connected with Luther's history.

21.—Heidelberg. Luther twice came here—in 1510 and 1518. At Neuenheim, a village on the right bank of the Neckar, is the Mönchhof, where he is said to have lodged in 1518.

22.—Mannheim, for Worms, where the ever-famous Diet was held, to which Luther so boldly went.

23.—Oppenheim, near Worms, on the railway to Mayence. Here Luther received warning not to go to Worms. He is said to have slept at the Ritter Inn.

24.—Frankfort.

For full details of what may be seen at the various places included in this tour, see 'Homes and Haunts of Luther,' by the Rev. Dr. Stoughton (Religious Tract Society); also the various guide-books.

A circular ticket—Combinirbare Rundreisebillet—may be obtained at Frankfort, by writing out the list of places, and leaving it at the railway station or the Frankfurter Hof the day before the ticket is required. Cost, second class, about £4.

ON THE TRACK OF THE REFORMERS.

The Reformation did not take hold of Italy. It had its adherents in many places, but it never became a general movement. There were, however, men and women of note who identified themselves with it. Italy, too, is the home of the Waldenses, and the scene of their heroic struggles and bitter sorrows. Nor should we forget men like Savonarola, Giordano Bruno, and others who, though not Protestants, yet rose up to protest against the errors and corruptions of Rome. The traveller, therefore, who is interested in the great religious conflict of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries will find himself, as he traverses the Peninsula, coming again and again to places redolent of hallowed memories. In the Valleys of Piedmont everything around him will call to mind the Waldenses.

Train from Turin to Pignerol, and thence by omnibus to La Tour—the chief town. The Pra del Tor echoed in 1560 with the shout, 'Viva Jesu Cristo,' as the Waldenses stood up to defend their homes. In 1561 a great gathering in the Valley of Perouse pledged themselves to try and maintain their liberties and rights. The rugged ravine of the Rorá is another memorable spot where the heroic people contrived methods of defence. Aosta was the birthplace of St. Anselm, and of the St. Bernard who founded the hospice that bears his name. A stone here records the flight of Calvin in 1541.

In Ferrara, Calvin and Clément Marot, the psalm-writer, sojourned at the Court of the Duchess Renée. The celebrated Olympia Morata, the most learned lady of her day and a devout Christian, lived here.

At Lucca, the marble pulpit in the Cathedral recalls the memory of Peter Martyr Vermiglio, whose Evangelical sermons were listened to by crowded congregations. In Lucca, too, Aonio Paleario, the most prominent of the Italian Reformers, was classical professor for a time.

Of Savonarola and Florence we need hardly speak. There are the convent of S. Marco, where his cell and various relics are shown; the Duomo, where his wonderful sermons were often preached; the Piazza, where he erected 'the Pyramid of Vanities,' and where afterwards he was himself consumed by fire; the Bargello, now a museum, where he was imprisoned; and the Villa Carreggi, where he had the well-known interview with Lorenzo de Medici.

In Sienna we come upon traces of Bernardino Ochino, 'whose sermons,' said Charles V., 'can move stones to tears;' and of Vittoria Colonna, another of the honourable and learned women of the day, whose hearts were drawn out towards the Gospel.

The city of Rome saw but little of the Reform movement, but Luther went there a believer in the Pope, and left it an unbeliever.

Naples reminds one of the Spaniard Juan Valdés, whose expositions of Scripture and other writings did great service, and who gathered around him for the study of Scripture, in his house on the Bay, such men as Ochino and Carnesecchi. Ladies, too, were present, and especially Giulia Gonzaga Colonna, for whose benefit he wrote his Alfabeto Cristiano.

In the wild region of Calabria, at San Sisto, on the road to Cosenza, and elsewhere, were several colonies of Waldensians, who for a while found a quiet home there, until at last the relentless foe of the truth drowned them in blood. Traditions of the old times linger there, as also many traces of the Angrognese dialect which they spoke.

Venice had its confessors. For a time a Church of believers existed there, and was visited by reformers from Geneva and elsewhere. But the Inquisition was at last permitted to do its work, and so one after another of the faithful were dropped into the deep water over against the Arsenal. [See Dr. Stoughton's 'Footprints of the Italian Reformers.' Rel. Tract Soc.]

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING FEMALE EDUCATION IN THE EAST.

THIS Society was formed in 1834, for the purpose of promoting education based upon the Holy Scriptures among Eastern Females of all ranks and classes, either in their own secluded homes or in missionary schools. Its sphere of operations includes China, Ultra Ganges, Burmah, India, Ceylon, Mauritius, Africa, the Levant, and Persia. Three hundred native Teachers have been trained in these schools, and are now working in them or in others. Zenana work is carried on by the Society's correspondents in various parts of India.

More than 2,000 native ladies, many of them of rank and wealth, are thus receiving instruction.

The Committee now find it necessary to bring forward their need of immediate and liberal help; for while the fields are white unto the harvest, and opportunities of sending out labourers present themselves more frequently than at any previous time in the Society's history, and the work is steadily growing under the hands of the Committee, it is deeply to be lamented that the funds do not increase. Applications for Zenana and School Teachers are before the Committee, and they cannot send them forth; and urgent appeals for grants of money and of School materials have also been received, to which they are unable to respond. Let it be borne in mind that the object of this Society is to lead all under its influence to the 'Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world;' THAT IT WILL NOT GIVE EDUCATION WITHOUT THE BIBLE; that it was the first to send forth Teachers for Hindu Zenanas (to Bombay in 1842), and for Turkish harems (to Egypt in 1836), and the earliest organized in England for the benefit of the females of China, India, Africa, and Syria (with one or two exceptions of limited sphere), and it will surely be allowed that it is no untried work on behalf of which the Committee so earnestly plead. The Lord has owned and blessed their humble efforts; are they to stand still because His people do not allow them the means for going forward?

Contributions will be gratefully received by the Treasurer, Sir WALTER R. FARQUHAR, Bart., 16, St. James Street, S.W.; and by the Secretary, Miss WEBB, 267, Vauxhall Bridge Road, London, S.W.

Patrons:

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN and H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES.

THIS Institution clothes, maintains and educates nearly 250 Children of deceased or distressed Licensed Victuallers, at a cost of £7,500 per annum.

From its commencement no fewer than 2,449 Children have been admitted, and many of them are now occupying good positions in life, entirely owing to the liberal education and careful training they have received within its walls.

Qualified children are eligible for admission from 7 to 12 years of age; and remain in the School until they attain the age of 15.

The Elections generally take place in March every year, at the School House, Kennington Lane. Applications to place the names of Children on the List of Candidates being received until the 31st December.

The scale upon which the school is now maintained requires increased exertions in order to provide for current expenditure, and Subscriptions are earnestly solicited to assist the Governor and Committee in meeting the increasing demands made upon the Charity.

THE TRINITARIAN BIBLE SOCIETY

(For the Circulation of Uncorrupted Versions of the Word of God).

Instituted 1831.

The facilities for circulating the Scriptures were never greater than at the present time. Through various instrumentalities and agencies this Society is holding forth to thousands of perishing souls the 'Word of Life,' pure and uncorrupted.

Unlike some Bible Societies, it is undenominational, and its work is essentially gratuitous and not commercial. Unlike some others, its field is the world, and it seeks the assistance not of any particular church or nation, but of all in every place who love the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity and truth. Unlike the British and Foreign Bible Society, its object is not 'to circulate the best translations which people will take,' but the best and most faithful that can be obtained. It granted and sold last year 78,377 Bibles, New Testaments, and Portions in 20 different languages. It has made grants for Hospitals, Asylums, Prisons, Police Cells, Workhouses, Sailors' Homes, and Strangers' Rests; also to Foreign Missions, Railway Employés, and Firemen. It has given thousands of Books to Sailors in 18 British and Foreign Ports; and to Emigrants of many nations, who have left our shores, or passed through our country. It has helped to send vast numbers of Gospels by book-post to the remote parts of Belgium, Austria, Spain, and Ireland, with many blessed results. It published in 1886 a New Hebrew New Testament that is rapidly superseding all others; A second edition of 100,000 copies has recently been printed for the Special Distribution throughout Europe and N. Africa, etc., by the Itinerant Mission of the 'Mildmay Mission to the Jews,' and more than half of it is now in circulation. It has undertaken to produce a Revised Text of the Hebrew Old Testament, a work that is called for by all Bible Translators, and which must form the basis for all future Old Testament Revision. It has commenced the printing of the whole Bible in Breton, for a people who do not yet possess the complete Word of God.

In the English Language it publishes many Editions in various Types and Bindings, adapted for all classes of persons:—

Bibles in large type for the Aged; in raised letters for the Blind; light editions for Invalids; Reference Bibles, Bibles with wide margins, and Bagster's Bibles for Students; large Bibles for Pulpits and Mission Halls; Teachers' Bibles for Sunday-school Teachers; small Bibles for the Pocket; facsimile Bibles for those who like Bibles page for page in various types; Bibles suitable for Presents; Bibles sold under cost for Schools and the Poor; and an Accented Bible for those who wish to know how to pronounce every proper name.
